Environmental Change, Security and Migration: Towards Sustainable Transformation

Monday, March 14th
1:30 – 3:00 p.m.
A220 Loeb

Two leading authorities on human security and environmental change present their ideas on the current agendas of research and policy. Drawing on practical examples from their own research and material from the now published three volume Global Environmental and Human Security Handbook for the Anthropocene (<http://www.afes-press-books.de/html/hexagon.htm>) they will discuss contemporary environmental changes, migration, and human security focusing on the need for innovation in both theory and the practices of security.
